

Extension of functionality of the Bluetooth® settings

(from BLUETOUCH® software version 1.05)

All information regarding the Bluetooth® connection and the coupling of BLUETOUCH® and mobile phones is to be found under chapter Bluetooth® connection in the enclosed user manual.

New functions of the telephone book download

From now on you have the possibility to switch ON and OFF the automatically telephone book download as well as to start the download manually in the menu of a chosen mobile phone.

Settings for a mobile phone from the list of known devices

- Select the desired mobile phone from the list of known devices.

You can now do the following with the selected mobile phone:

- Automatic pairing so that the selected device is paired to BLUETOUCH® as soon as you approach the system.
- Manual coupling.
- Delete from list.

- NEW!  Automatic phonebook download ON and OFF

- NEW!  Manual phonebook download

! If you have deactivated the automatically phonebook download, the memorised phonebook entries in the mobile phone will remain in BLUETOUCH®, as long as this is existing in the list of known devices.

If you have memorised a new contact in your mobile phone you can start the manually phonebook download on the one hand or on the other hand you can activate the automatically phonebook download for this mobile phone again.

! All Bluetooth® specific settings are only active for this (before) selected mobile phone.

! ADVANTAGE: Deactivate the automatic phonebook download if you have a lot of contacts (more than 300) in your mobile phone, to reduce the pairing time between your mobile phone and BLUETOUCH®.
